

Sanako — Best Online Resources for Language Teachers

The article “Best online resources for language teachers” from the Sanako blog offers a curated list of digital tools and platforms designed to support foreign language educators in enhancing lesson planning and student engagement. Among the resources highlighted are interactive tools such as Flippity and Quizlet, which help teachers create dynamic activities, flashcards, and vocabulary exercises. The article also points to comprehensive resource banks like TES and the British Council, where educators can find ready-to-use materials for classroom and online instruction. Practical suggestions include apps for turning printed materials into digital files as well as resources to build digital resilience in teaching environments. This compilation is valuable for language teachers seeking to integrate a range of online resources and innovative tools into both face-to-face and virtual language education.

<https://sanako.com/best-online-resources-for-language-teachers>